Message Overview:

Life is blessed, life is busy, and sometimes life is hard. How do we learn to handle the curveballs and often chaos in the middle of our organized mess? Andrea Holman takes a light-hearted approach to tackle the hard issues we as wives and moms often face when dealing with the daily dynamics of doing life and managing our household. It may not always be easy, but it can always get better when following a few simple rules and applying Biblical Truths to help us navigate and appreciate the ones that we love in the life that we've been given.
